

29 August 1957.

I am very happy and very proud of this opportunity for extending my warmest congratulations to Arnaldo Mondadori and my highest praises to his great House at this half-century milestone in its existence.

It is a matter of great delight and personal pride to me to see "The Night of the Hunters" published in Italy so beautifully and under the name of one of Europe's most illustrious and distinguished editors.

Felicitations and all my kindest wishes for the health and happiness of Signor Mondadori and his associates and for the eternal prosperity of their House.

Sincerely yours,

Doris Greber
